Sue LaPierre United Way

Sue LaPierre has worked for United Way Halifax for 20 years and holds the role of Director of Community Impact. “Determined” is a word often used to describe Sue. She sets bold goals for herself and in service of community - bold goals rooted in the belief that we can do better and getting uncomfortable is good and stretches us to new places. Sue has helped transform United Way Halifax into an organization committed to equity— a poverty-focused organization committed to alleviating the impacts of and finding solutions to poverty.

Outside of United Way, Sue can often be found outdoors running, walking, cycling, and swimming. She surrounds herself with kind people, love, kids, and her own dog Beaudry the Bouvier. Her greatest inspiration is her husband’s unwavering integrity and believes the true meaning of love is wanting to be a better person because of it.
